

Dear guests,

for years, the Goldafter Caterpillar hasn't been welcome, neither on Helgoland nor the Helgoland Dune. Since the first sighting, we've been putting all our effort in preventing any further spreading. Touching those caterpillars or their nests can cause skin irritations as well as possible allergic reactions. The community gardeners are gathering nests on Helgoland and the Helgoland Dune on a regular basis.

Please do not touch those caterpillars or put them into your hands. Please advise your children accordingly.
